Session 6

'Bouncebackability'

We are moving on to Session 6 now. We hope you are learning about ways in which you can be awesome as you 'go big'. We have a new word to look at today – 'bouncebackability'!

Matthew Burton

As a headteacher, and a teacher before that, Matthew knows a lot about the importance of bouncing back.

Gemma Oaten

Gemma has to use 'bouncebackability' all the time in her line of work – when you mess up your line, you have to go again!

In Session 5, we looked at being lost emotionally and physically, and we gave you some tips around the first few days of the big move to EBHS.

We explored ways of handling your nerves, excitement and emotion – remember the Triangle of Trust?

You are learning how to be awesome – it doesn't just happen! You have to work on some of these things and keep your mind in the right mindset.

Here is Matthew Burton to introduce today's session:

What is 'bouncebackability'?

It is something you have to work on, develop, practise, exercise and sharpen.

It is often called 'resilience' or 'grit'.

If you work on this, everything else falls into place!

What is 'bouncebackability'?

“We could go on for years and years about this, but if we’re going to boil it down to one thing I think you have to work on, develop, practise, exercise and sharpen, it’s this: bouncebackability. People call it various things – it can be known as ‘resilience’ or ‘grit’ or simply ‘that wasn’t very nice or very good but I’m not going to give up I’m going to try again’.”

Let's understand your expectations vs reality

Nothing comes easy. You will make mistakes along the way.

Make sure you have clear expectations about what can happen in reality.

Expectations:

I'm never going to fall off! This is so easy!

Reality:

I fell off straight away and barely stayed on the bike for more than a few seconds!

There will be some things that you will encounter at EBHS that you might find will take real grit and determination to master. It might be a new sport for example - something that you have never played before. Or it might be a new subject. Do you know how many subjects you will study at EBHS? In your workbook or on paper, write down how many separate subjects you think you will study and then check the next slide to see if you got them all!

Ready?

Are there any subjects that you didn't know or would like to know more about? If you click on the Curriculum tab of the school website you can click on the different subjects to find out more about them. <https://ebhigh.org.uk/>

- English
- Mathematics
- Science
- Geography
- History
- Belief and Ethics
- Modern Foreign Languages (French or German)
- Art
- Music
- Drama
- Design Technology
- Food Technology
- Computing
- Physical Education (PE)
- PSHE (Personal, Social & Health Education)

So...thinking again about grit and determination...How do you handle bouncing back?

In your workbook or on paper or in your notebook, answer the following questions/finish the sentences:

- 1) I have shown 'grit' when...
- 2) I need to show more determination when...
- 3) How do you handle making a mistake? What is your reaction?
- 4) Think of a time when you made a mistake, were you kind to yourself?

When things go wrong...

The easy thing to do would be to say everyone else is wrong, insist you're right, refuse to take any feedback from anyone and keep doing what you're doing. The tough thing to do – and the whole point of bouncebackability – is to accept “I wasn't very good”.

Matthew Burton, 'Go Big'

Remember, you can get 'Go Big' from the school library when you get to EBHS!

At EBHS, you will sometimes make mistakes because that is how you learn. As a Year 7, you are just getting the hang of things.

1. You might handle a disagreement badly.
2. You might get offended more than you should.
3. You may fall out with people occasionally.
4. You might not score 100% on a test.
5. You might forget to hand your homework in on time.
6. You might not bring the right equipment.

Remember what Matthew Syed said about a growth mindset? Turn these things into learning opportunities.

Are you kind to yourself?

- You are going to have days where you feel fed up and times when you are upset.
- You may panic about the future.
- You may feel overwhelmed.

Are you kind to others?

Everyone has worries and sometimes people don't want to talk about them, but we can make a HUGE difference to the lives of other people with KINDNESS.

“Unfortunately, we can't fix everything for everyone, but what we can do, and what we should do every day, hour, minute and second, is be kind.”
Matthew Burton

"Be nice, work hard, bounce
back, and all will be fine.
Go get 'em!"

Matthew Burton

What does 'work hard' and 'be kind' mean?

Fill in the person outline in your workbook with all of the things that you can do to show you are working hard. If you are not working in the workbook you can draw the outline on to a piece of paper.

Now think about what you can do to be kind.

How many of these things do you do already?

Highlight the ones that you would like to do more of!

Effort and enthusiasm are super important

In life we MUST try.

Teachers won't mind if you get things wrong, but they will mind if you don't put effort in to try in the first place.

Whatever you do, don't give up.

There will be:

- tasks you find hard
- homework you can't do
- a grade you think you don't deserve

The best thing you can do is talk. Talk about life, things and anything you don't understand.

Decide who you want to be.
Develop yourself as a person.
Don't be put off by things.
Achieve your goals.

Here is Gemma to give you some advice on bouncing back. It is something we all need to do.
