

Rural Crime Team - Sgt Brian Calver

The Rural and Wildlife Policing team deal with a wide range of crimes, from thefts from farms to people stealing birds' eggs and illegal metal detectorists. We're trained to investigate crimes against wildlife and give advice for other officers to help them deal with these crimes. This also involves working together with many other agencies, such as the RSPCA, RSPB and the Bat Conservation Trust, all who work together to protect our wildlife.

Later in the year we hope to come and visit many of you in your schools so look out for us!

ONECOPSTOP

KEEP SAFE AND KNOW THE LAW

Hi - this week we are talking about rural crime and what we can do to protect our countryside. We received an email from Kenzi who has been helping our bees and butterflies.

Ask Morse

Kenzi aged 5

"We have been growing lots of flowers for the butterflies and bees. Our garden is now a bee and butterfly friendly haven."

Next week we are talking about stealing and how to keep your important items safe. How do you keep your valuables safe? Do you add your name and post-code onto them? Let Morse know how you keep your special items safe from thieves.

Email: questiontime@suffolk.pnn.police.uk

Littering

It's that time of year when many of us are out and about, enjoying the Suffolk countryside and all it brings with it. There's no doubt that being outside has a huge benefit for our wellbeing and happiness, not to mention all that clean air, free of traffic fumes. Sadly, not everyone shows the deserved level of respect for the countryside. There are those that seem to think it's ok to just throw their litter down wherever they want, with no regard for the consequences. A drink can dropped on the verge will become a pile of razor blades to cut dogs feet once it's been mown. A bottle thrown down has the same effect, as well as the risk of starting a fire, where the sun's rays are magnified on the parched undergrowth. Please take it home and don't risk the lives of our wildlife and pets.

PARENT HUB

This time of year it can be hard to keep children entertained.

www.unicefkidpower.org provides a list of 50 ideas from bike-riding to water balloon baseball

What can we do to help?

Why not be like Kenzi and plant some bee and butterfly friendly plants? You could build a bird feeder, visit the local park or feed the ducks, remembering to take your litter home with you. Another suggestion is to make a video recording what nature you have in your garden. For many other ideas visit: www.rspb.org.uk or www.wildlifetrust.org.uk

